BENALPIN PROVIDES CONSULTANCY SUPPORT FOR THE ATM INDUSTRY

Who We Are

Founded in 2000, BenAlpin is a UK based independent consultancy. BenAlpin provides specialist domestic and international services with a specific focus on all aspects of physical ATM security, throughout the ATM Lifecycle. We also help with security awareness & training, and with services relating to the handling, processing, storage, security and transport of cash. BenAlpin has been a member of the ATM Industry Association (ATMIA) since 2000, of the Global ATM Alliance (GASA) since 2004 and has supported the European ATM Security Team (EAST) since 2004.

How We Can Help

- We supply checklists, forms and templates designed to assist ATM deployers
- We work with ATM deployers to review the physical risks to their operations and, if required, to produce an ATM Lifecycle security strategy and assist with its implementation.
- We develop or review physical minimum security requirements for ATM estates
- We review, audit or develop security policies & procedures for ATM (and other) operations.
- We review, develop or design ATM related service level agreements (Internal & External), based on security policies and procedures.
- We conduct analysis of operations with a view to reducing costs, highlighting procedural gaps, or identifying non-conformance.
- We design and deliver ATM security awareness training modules for management and operational staff, tailored to meet the specific needs and requirements of a business.
- We assess the potential for security products/services in new markets. Should market entry be decided, we can help with the business launch/start up.

About our Lead Consultant

Our Lead Consultant, Lachlan Gunn, has assisted clients with European surveys aimed at market intelligence gathering and product entry strategies, with the raising of funding for asset acquisition or refinance, and with the development and delivery of security training packages for operational staff. He spent several years working in Belgium where he successfully designed and implemented an ATM physical security strategy for Banksys, the main Belgian ATM network provider, and designed and produced full ATM operational procedures and service level agreements (internal & external). The security strategy, and related procedures and service level agreements were validated and accepted by the Belgian Banks, and by staff and contractors.

Lachlan is also founder and a Director of European ATM Security Team Ltd (EAST), an independent and 'not-for-profit' international ATM user group. EAST has active membership from Banks and ATM Networks in the 31 states that make up the Single European Payments Area (SEPA), is supported by Europol and Eurojust, and is recognised by many central European bodies including the European Commission, the European Central Bank, the European Payments Council and the European Network Support and Information Agency (ENISA). Lachlan plans and organises member and Board meetings around Europe, liaises with the press and media, produces European ATM Crime reports and a monthly news update, and manages the website and daily operations. For more information on EAST see www.european-atm-security.eu

Lachlan has directly contributed to a white paper entitled 'ATM Crime: Overview of the European situation and golden rules on how to avoid it', published by ENISA, which offers information and advice to all EU citizens. He is co-author of the Best Practice Manual for Physical ATM Security and Technical Editor for the ATM Cash Security Manual, both produced for the Global ATM Security Alliance (GASA), was European Security Adviser to ATMIA from November 2003 to December 2004 and was a Judge for the 2003 ATMIA Global Security Awards.

Lachlan has spoken at 12 international security conferences in Europe since 2001 including events organised by NCR, Wincor Nixdorf and ATMIA. He has twice addressed the European Plastic Card and Online Fraud conference, as well as 'Fraud Europe' and 'Fraud World'.
